Part III, 4d Other Program Services continued:

The Mott Foundation Grant = $46,300, consisting of $46,300 paid for outside contract services related to the Adequacy Study Project.

This contractor spearheaded the communications efforts in relation to the School Finance Research Project (SFRC) in order to disseminate the information related to the findings of the project. This study incorporated multiple methodologies and included important factors like poverty, charter schools, English Language Learners and factors in geographical isolation. Districts with high concentrations of special needs, at-risk, or high-poverty students may be different and have different needs than wealthier, affluent districts. The study incorporated these important differences to produce a truly accurate picture of what it costs to educate a child.

"Determining the Cost for Funding Educational Achievement for all Michigan Students" was released in early calendar year 2018.

After the release of the study, the Adequacy Study Project moved in the direction of communicating the findings to the general public throughout Michigan.
